PLYMOVENT

for use in vehicle workshops.

A wide range of operation provides a neat solution for exhaust gas problems.

PlymoVent's double articulated swinging arm used to support exhaust hose or single arm with exhaust reel are simple and space-saving methods for extracting exhaust gases in truck workshops and car service halls.

The ideal solution when extraction is needed during indoor running or where the layout of the premises and type of vehicles mean complete coverage is required over a large area. For example in workshops for plant vehicles and buses.
